

Volume 4: Project T

Chapter 1: The last latch

The room was plunged into a red light. Screens showed images of drones, hidden cameras and school plans. Dozens of encapuchoned silhouettes were gathered around a huge "T" shaped table. At the end of this table, a man was sitting in the shadows. The silence was immediately he raised his hand. His voice resoned, calm and authoritarian: "" There is only one school. A screen turned behind him, revealing a Toliara digital plan. Almost all areas were marked in green, except a ... Houssen Memorial School, encircled in red. - "The project t is approaching. It only remains memorial. And we all know why it's the most difficult. Another agent spoke. - "The main does not cooperate, and the school is resistant to our systems. "- Exactly. That's why we need him. King T. He pointed out a name on a digital table: Johary. - "It is brilliant, respected, close to the direction. If we are spraying, everything will fall. He will become our centerpiece. The letter J. "murmurs traveled the room. It was risky. But possible. A person got up: M, Alias Dylan. - "He passed all the tests without knowing it. It has been handled through investigations, puzzles, moral tests. He does not suspect anything. "- Perfect, Mr. Continue playing your role. Soon, he will not have the choice. In a dark corner of the room, there remained silent. Officially, a loyal agent. In truth, a spy infiltrated, determined to protect Johary and thwart the plans of King T. But no one knew it. Not yet. Knew a fake step, a hesitation, and it would be eliminated. The king took the floor again, his voice full of certainty. - "The project T is simple: to control all Toliara schools and then sell their data, their funds and programs. Education does not interest me. What matters is power and money. He showed another screen: confidential classified files, bank statements, student databases. "Once memorial in our hands, the entire city will belong to me. He slowly got up and declared: "Prepare the final phase. That each agent takes position. And especially ... Keep Johary alive. He is our key. In the shadow, it will discreetly fists. He had to warn Johary. But not now. Not yet.

Chapter 2: The awakening of the network

In the aftermath of the secret meeting, the members of the organization began to infiltrate discreetly in the vicinity of Houssen Memorial School. The agents bearing the letters A to F had already slipped into well thought out roles: replacing professor, guardian, housekeeper, help in the refreshment, supervisor. Their goal? Quietly place monitoring devices, observe the Johary behaviors, and identify all its weaknesses. Meanwhile, there, always infiltrated in the organization, introduced into the class of the Ties of another school. In a few minutes, he placed a small device capable of sending him copies of everything that passed through the network of King T. He had to act quickly, but without alerting the organization. He knew that a single suspect movement and the king t would radiate him from history. At Memorial, Johary felt a strange tension. The day before, a physics teacher, Mr. Pytha, had introduced himself. He was polite, funny ... but something in his gaze put him uncomfortable. Cristiano, as usual, saw only fire. Fidélo spent his time sleeping on his table. Lucia and Jessica discussed a duty of French, carefree. But Johary, he watched. He had learned not to trust what seemed "normal". At the break, he crossed the main. She smiled at her warmly. - "Johary, you advances well this year, I'm proud of you. - "Thank you, madame ... you did not notice that there are new faces this week? She frowned. - "No, why? There were some replacements, that's all. He nodded, but something was wrong. There, for its part, sent an encrypted anonymous message to a secret address that Johary had used in the past. "Attention. You are watched. Agents are in your school. Do not trust them. Protects the main. " - Y Johary received the message on an old phone he kept hidden. By reading the words, he understood: it was not a simple intuition. Something serious was preparing. And he was not alone.

Chapter 3: False-show

Pretense since receiving Y's message, Johary had no longer closed the eye. He now observed every gesture, every look, every word of his teachers ... and even his comrades. Someone in the school was not what he claimed to be. And he intended to discover it well. The very morning he discreetly gathered his squad: Cristiano, Fidélo, Lucia and Jessica. They found themselves in a retreating corner of the yard, where the cameras had not been installed yet. Johary spoke in a low voice: "I received a message ... very important. We may be in danger. People are watching school, and especially me. - "What?! Who would do that? Lucia was surprised. "The organization of King T," Johary replied. "They want me to succeed ... so that I join them. - "And you'll do it? Jessica asked, worried. - "Never. Meanwhile, in a small secret office of the school, M Dylan, King T right, watched a digital card with the trips of Johary and his friends. - "He is wary. This boy is lively. At his side, Mr. Pytha was content with smiling. "And the more it is wary ... the closer to what the king is awaits. However, they ignored that another look was watching them discreetly: Y, always loyal in Johary, had hacked the surveillance system. He recorded everything. To test the adults around him, Johary launched several traps: he pretended to forget a duty in the office of the new supervisor (agent b) and hid a small microphone. He proposed to Fidélo to invent a tin story that he would tell a false math teacher (agent d) ... to see if this info would go back to him. He asked Jessica to say to the science teacher (Agent F) that he was going to "crack" mentally ... and he waited for the reactions. In the evening, he received another anonymous message: "You have no idea how valuable you are, Johary. Soon you will see the truth. " - T Johary Flissonna. It was not Y. It was the king himself. But in the shadows, wrote there too. "Continue like that. The slightest misstep, and they devour you. I watched. " - Y

Chapter 4: The King's trap

For a few days, the indices accumulated. Johary had trapped several suspect agents, and their reactions confirmed his suspicions: something big was on. But that day, it was not the teachers who attracted his attention ... It was a trainee supervisor, a newcomer to the strange behavior. His name was Mr. Aacère. Young, discreet, always to observe groups of students, but rarely to intervene. He took notes, spoke little ... and was especially interested in Johary and his friends. Johary made him ignore it, but spoke immediately to his squad. - "Did you see the new one? Mr. Aacère? He sticks me. "- Me, he asked me if we had already been summoned by the direction, "says Jessica. "I asked me if you were often talking with Ms. Main ..." Cristiano added. Lucia frowned. - "It's not normal. This guy, he acts as a spy. Y, always in the shadows, confirmed the suspicions. "MrNACERE = Agent K. Méfiance. He does not know anything about me. Continue as if nothing had happened. " Johary then decided to stretch her a new trap. He pretended to write a coded letter, full of false information. Then he voluntarily dropped the letter passing in front of

Mr. Aacère. Three hours later, King t sent him this message: "Do you want to go to the secret laboratory? Bad idea, little J. You are not ready yet. " It was clear. M.NACERE had bitten to the hook. But this time, the organization wanted to react. One evening, after the classes, Johary received an unusual convocation: an exceptional meeting with "the orientation committee". In fact, in this room, waiting for three silent silhouettes: agent D, Agent E, and Mr. Agere (agent K). - "Welcome Johary. We have a lot to tell you ... "The door closed behind him.

Chapter 5: The Shadow Test

The room was dark. Only a ceiling lamp diffused a white and cold light. Johary sat on the metal chair, facing three people: agent D, the most talkative, but in the icy tone. Agent E, who tapped on a computer without looking at him. Agent K (Monsieur), always behind, but the attentive eye. They knew Johary was dangerous, but also ... precious. - "Do you want to play detective, Johary? Very good. We will see if you really deserve this role. "- You are not here to be punished ... you are here to be tested. Johary frowned. He knew it was not a normal convocation. It was not the direction of the school. It was the organization. - "King T has a project. A dream. And you could be part of it. "- All he wants is your help to "optimize" memorial. Nothing bad ... nothing dangerous. - "Help us, and you will have control. Refuse ... and you will disappear in oblivion. Johary fixed them. - "I'm not a pawn. But when agent d was going to answer ... a dry noise sounded in the room. A discreet alarm code. Agent E rose abruptly. - "Someone has infiltrated our secure channel ... someone indoor. They looked at each other. And during this moment of panic, the wall projector was activated alone, and an encrypted message appeared: "Message from the network Y: Johary, good. I watch. -Y "The agents panicked. But Johary smiles. Watched there. In the room, a flash power cut off the lights. When they came back, Johary was no longer there. He had escaped from ventilation. There had shown him the way. King's test had started. But Johary was not alone. And more than ever, he knew he had to play the game ... to make them fall.

Chapter 6: The Resistance Code

The sun declined on Memorial. The school seemed peaceful. But behind the scenes, a silent war of information had begun. After his spectacular escape, Johary knew he could no longer trust anyone. He had to act quickly. That night, he summoned a secret meeting in their class. The members of the squad I arrived one by one: Cristiano, Lucia, Jessica, and even Fidelo, more serious than ever. Johary told them all: the test, the organization, the true goal of King T, and especially ... the existence of the agent Y, a spy infiltrated to help them. Lucia spoke, dark eyes: "So ... they want you to help them control school for money? Cristiano will take his fists: "We will denounce them! But Johary shook his head. - "No. They are too powerful. Their spies are everywhere. We must play smart. He put an old school of the school on the table. In red pen, he marked several places: the technical room the office of the main Internet the internal Internet the manager. - "Here are our targets. We must look for evidence of what they really prepare. Jessica, searching in her bag, took a small device out: "With that, we can copy files without being spotted. Everyone was impressed. Even Fidelo, who nodded: "I can make diversion while you search. If I make myself go for a lost student, no one will be wary ... "A silence. Then everyone smiled. That night, the squad I was back. Not inheries. But in resistance. And they had a goal: to protect their school. And discover the real project of the king t ... without falling into his trap.

Chapter 7: Intrusion in the midnight shadow. The Toliara sky was silent, but Johary's heart was fighting herself. The squad J was on mission. The plan: Infiltrate the manager, the new high school building, rarely visited, except by some maintenance agents. Cristiano watched, while Jessica and Lucia gently forced the lock with the computer tool. Fidelo, in a post a little further, sorry false, ready to make diversion if someone was approaching. - "It's good, it's open. Jessica murmured. Inside, dozens of boxes full of papers, hard drives and old dusty computers. A strange silence reigned, almost too calm. Johary approached an old waiter. Jessica connects him to his device. The files slowly passed ... too slowly. Suddenly, Lucia jumped: - "There is someone! A foot noise. An encapuced silhouette. Cristiano hid in the shadows. Johary grabs an iron bar on the ground, ready to defend his friends. But the person raised his hands. - "Calm down ... I am ... Y." All remained frozen. It removed its hood. He was a young man masked of common appearance, with tired eyes. - "The organization trapped you. This server contains only false documents. The real plan ... is elsewhere. But I can help you. Johary frowned. - "Why do you tell us that now? It answered gently: "Because tomorrow, the project did to phase two. And you will be on the front line. The silence returned. Weighing. Glacial. The squad I had just understood: the king was always a blow. And the help of Y, even uncertain, was perhaps their only chance ...

Chapter 8: Phase Two

The next morning. Court of the Memorial School. Nothing seemed to have changed ... And yet, everything had rocked. The director smiled as usual. The teachers argued quietly. But Johary, alerted by Y, looked at each face with mistrust. Urgent meeting of the squad J at the break. - "The King t passes to the two phase. But what is this phase two? Lucia asked, worried. "We do not know, but we must be attentive to everything: Time jobs, new people, cameras ... even courses can hide something," Johary replied. Jessica opened a small notebook: - * "Exactly. Three strange things this morning: 1. New material added to our class. 2. Three students transferred for no reason. 3. We have been banned access to the computer room. * Cristiano added: - "And Fidélo said that the English teacher called it 'number 17' instead of his name. - "Number 17? ..." JOHARY murmured. - "The project advances ... and we are in it. Meanwhile, in a secret office in the basement of the school ... King t watched surveillance screens. At his side, M, P, C and D took notes. The plan was unfolding without a hitch. Nobody still knew what exactly was the two phase, but the students would soon understand: each test, every decision, each error was monitored, measured ... exploited. In the shadow, Y, spy infiltrated, prepared a coded message to send to Johary: "They install the memorial system. You must hold good. Do not trust anyone." And in the corridors of the school, a secret camera blinked. The two phase had started.

Chapter 9: Silent Infiltration

In the evening fell on the memorial school, but the squad I stayed awake. In an empty building of the building, Johary, Lucia, Jessica, Cristiano and Fidélo examined a scribbled plan on a large sheet of notebook. - "The memorial system would be under the building of the former laboratories. If we get to enter, one can perhaps sabotage a part of the system. "- We only have 20 minutes during the power failure at 20:45, "said Jessica. Johary looked at each of them. - "It's risky. King T has surely planned that something is trying. But we do not have the choice.

20:45 - school yard.

The cut off as expected. The squad, equipped with lamps and walkies, sneaked through the buildings. Lucia neutralized the motion sensor of the main corridor with a cribbed jammer. Jessica decoded the magnetic lock. Fidelo ... Trébucha on an empty bottle, but fortunately, without alerting anyone. Arrived in the room, they discovered a huge digital picture with cables, screens, and especially ... a hard disk marked with a red "t". "It's here ...", "Johary blew. - "We copy it or we destroy it? Lucia asked. - "We copy it. If we destroy, they will understand. They plugged a special USB key. The download started: 1%, 2%, 3% ... Suddenly, a voice in a speaker: "interesting. You are faster than expected. They froze. "But it's not yet time. Have fun ... while it's still time. The voice stopped. "It was ... King T," Johary murmured. - "He let us enter on purpose ..." The download ends at 100%. They took the key and escaped before the current returns. Back to their den, they inserted the key into an old computer. Dozens of files, all encrypted. But a line appeared on the screen: "Memorial - 62% control" - "It is already 62% of the total school control," Jessica said. "We do not have a lot of time ..." concludes Johary.

Chapter 10: 62%

The next morning. The courses normally resumed, the students laughed, ran in the yard of the Memorial School, without suspecting that a major plan was running. The squad, she did not laugh. Gathered in the library in silence, Johary again inserted the USB key into the secure computer of Ms. Madre - without his knowledge. The downloaded data revealed a card: Each memorial building was connected to the "brain t", a super-algorithm of behavioral analysis. This system provided students' movements, teachers ... even those of Johary. - "He has been watching for a long time. Even our movements are calculated ..., "said Lucia. - "That's why we have never been able to reach it. He predicts everything. Jessica added. Fidelo frowned: "Even when I ate Ronaldo's fries? Cristiano looked up in heaven. But another information emerges: King tantly wanted Johary to succeed the "final test". This test - unknown for the moment - would allow Johary to become "J", that is, an agent of the organization, the closest to Madame main, and thus ... to control 100% memory memorial. Meanwhile, in a secret office of Toliara ... King T fixed the central screen. Around him, the silhouettes of the agents of the alphabet - A, B, C, D, E ... - stayed in the shadows. Dylan (M) was standing on his right. - "It progresses. Exactly as planned. - "And if he turns against you? , Asked the agent B. - "He will not be able. He is curious. And curiosity always leads to the thirst for truth. Calmly replied King T. Then he stared at a Madame Madium picture on his desk. - "With him, we will control Memorial. And after ... all the education of Toliara. Back to school. In the corridors, there, discreet, watched Johary and his friends. He noted, in a small notebook, all he saw. But he did not say anything. He knew that revealing the truth now would put Johary in danger. "Soon, I will have to tell him everything ..."

This chapter ends on a black screen, where a sentence appears: "Current control: 68%" to follow with the Volume 5 ...